

Laborite Gains Feature British General Election

Labor Party Had Gained Thirty Seats in Parliament on Returns at 2 O'Clock.

LLOYD GEORGE LOSES 21 SEATS IN COMMONS

State of Mind of British Voters Evidently Similar to U. S.—Eager for Change.

Party Leaders In London, November 15.—The leaders of the four parties concerned in the general election were returned to the house of commons by their respective constituencies. Premier Bonar Law, leader of the conservatives, was returned to the commons from the Glasgow district. Lloyd George, head of the national liberals, was automatically re-elected from the district of Carnarvon, where he had no opposition. Herbert Asquith, leader of the "free" liberals, was elected by the district of Paisley and John R. Clynes, chief of the laborites, was returned by his Manchester constituency.

BY RALPH H. TURNER. London, November 15.—Initial gains made Wednesday by the Asquithian and laborite parties in the English general elections, if maintained, will indicate a British state of mind similar to that evidenced November 7 in America—the desire for a change. A 2 a. m. the gains of the laborites still continued to be the outstanding feature of the election. At this hour the standing of the different parties was:

Conservatives, 141; laborites, 55; Asquithians, 22; Georgians, 10, and independents 5. These results showed the laborites in the 242 constituencies which had reported at this hour had gained 30 seats, the Asquithians 10; the conservatives had lost 19 and the Georgians had lost 21.

Progressive Spirit. English voters, like the Americans, would appear to be undergoing a spirit of progressivism. Having repudiated the coalition of Lloyd George for failure to satisfy the needs of the present order of things, the vote against Lloyd George may be considered as simply a reiteration of dissatisfaction with the coalition's performance. The country, judging from the early returns, seems to have decided that a more progressive and adaptable government is scarcely possible from the conservative party which is generally considered very reactionary. Therefore, the only outlet the voters had to voice their disapproval of the Georgian liberals and the conservatives was to vote for the Asquithian or laborite candidates.

No Vital Issues. The conservative government, which came into power under Bonar Law following the resignation of Lloyd George as premier, failed to develop any policies that differed sharply from those of the Georgian coalition. There were no vital issues involved in the campaign. Bonar Law only promising "tranquility." Bearing in mind that the conservative's policy broadly parallels that of the republicans in the United States, with the liberals resembling the progressive republicans and democrats, it is recalled that President Harding won in 1920 with a "back to normalcy" slogan which is similar to the "tranquility" slogan of Bonar Law. Mr. Harding won while the United States was still undergoing a strong reaction from the war. The conservatives may

Hattie Is Better After Four-Quart Toddy Is Prescribed

New York, November 15.—Hattie, the 45-year-old lady elephant in Central park, is feeling much better since headkeeper Jim Coyle gave her a wee nipple of Scotch—four quarts, to be exact. The old girl refused to get up for breakfast Sunday morning. Her illness caused great disturbance at the zoo until a doctor went over her tummy with a sledge hammer, tapping lightly for the telltale sounds which mean various things to a doctor. "Tummyache is all," said the veterinarian. "Get her on a light diet—about six quarts of bran mash. Then give her a little snifter of rum—not more than a gallon. She'll get well."

Hattie was wobbly and a little thick in her speech for the next hour or so, but she's recovering.

ADMINISTRATION WOULD PUT TEETH IN LABOR BOARD

Features Proposed, However, Declared Certain to Arouse Opposition of Organized Labor.

ABOLITION OF BOARD MAY BE FINAL RESULT

The Proposed Anti-Strike Clause Apt to Bring Attack From Labor and Progressives.

BY CLAYTON WHITEHILL. Washington, November 14.—The administration will attempt to put teeth in the railroad labor board before the new congress is convened. But the attempt, although it will be accompanied by certain amendments to the transportation act, to make the board more attractive to the railroad workers, is foredoomed to failure.

One of the proposed new features is an anti-strike clause, which is intolerable to organized labor, and may result in the abolition of the board by the progressives in the new house and senate, and result finally in government ownership of railroads.

Although some of the president's advisers have pointed out this danger to him, he has summoned Senator Cummins, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, back from Iowa to confer with him on new railroad legislation. Cummins called at the white house Tuesday and arranged for the conference. To Reopen Fight. Thus the whole controversy over the Esch-Cummins or transportation act is to be reopened after a respite of 18 months. The fight will center upon amendments to the act which will probably contain the following provisions: 1.—That the railroad labor board be empowered to enforce its decisions against the workers. 2.—That the board be empowered to enforce its decisions against the carriers. 3.—That the personnel of the board be entirely representative of the public, instead of its present personnel—three members respectively for the public, the employees and the carriers. 4.—That the board be made a division of the interstate commerce commission with headquarters in Washington instead of in Chicago as at present. 5.—That the board recognize the principle of the living wage as a just and living wage, and determine the amount of such a wage. 6.—That the consolidation plan, the preparation of which is compulsory under the transportation act, be put in operation, if not in its entirety, at least that part of it which proposed to pool all railroad equipment into one large corporation.

First Is Snag. The first proposal is the rock on which the whole labor board may be wrecked. That the board might ultimately be abolished has been regarded as possible for some time, and some of the president's advisers have suggested that he will let well enough alone by omitting this anti-strike clause from any new railroad legislation. Although the president may yet change his mind and recommend omission of the clause, Senator Cummins is understood to intend insisting upon its inclusion regardless

Chamber Budget Increase Assures Greater Atlanta

Commerce Body Officials Express Optimism at the Booster Luncheon.

A greater Atlanta is assured through enlarging the chamber of commerce budget to $100,000 per year, in the opinion of the leaders and workers in the present campaign for memberships, who were highly gratified at the reports made at the luncheon Wednesday.

Already the budget has been boosted to the extent of $10,000 additional revenue for the year, and during the three remaining days of the campaign indications are that enough members will be secured to enable the officials of the body to carry the work to completion of the $100,000 budget before January 1. A goal of 2,100 memberships was set at the beginning of the campaign on November 6, and although the leaders admit that they will not secure this number during the remainder of the week, they feel convinced that the work of these two weeks has prepared the ground for the officials, President Foote, Secretary Barker, and Assistant Secretary J. E. Adkins, to carry on the work through continuous solicitations until the goal of 4,000 memberships is reached. Developments Expected. Among the great developments expected for the remainder of this week are reports from the central committee in charge of the larger business institutions. The Civic club will also

BOTTLEERS OFFER NOVEL FEATURES FOR SECOND DAY

President and Mrs. C. V. Rainwater Will Be Hosts to the Visiting Ladies at Great Barbecue.

RAINWATER ADDRESSES MEETING WEDNESDAY

Exposition at Auditorium Closes Friday, the Convention Continuing Through Saturday.

With the first day's session of the fourth annual convention over, interest of American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages turned this morning to the second session of the three-day program. Addresses by Dr. W. G. Campbell acting chief of the bureau of chemistry of Washington, D. C., and C. R. Atchinson, of the Ivan B. Nordham company of New York, will feature the business session which ends at noon.

President and Mrs. Charles V. Rainwater will be hosts to the visiting ladies at a barbecue at their home on Springdale road at noon and the afternoon and evening will be given over to sight-seeing trips in and around Atlanta, a golf tournament this afternoon at Druid Hills club and a band concert in exposition hall tonight.

Rainwater's Address. The address of President Rainwater was the outstanding feature of Wednesday's session. His remarks were confined strictly to matters of particular interest to the bottlers and embodied a resume of the association's work during the past four years of its existence. Particular reference was made to the spirit of co-operation among members and the very pleasant and profitable relations which the association had been instrumental in establishing between the bottlers proper, and the representatives of every other interest connected with the industry. He congratulated those responsible for the magnificent array of exhibits assembled in Atlanta in making the second exposition of carbonated beverages one of the "greatest shows of its kind ever held."

President Rainwater outlined some of the plans for continuing the growth of the association and of the increase of its membership, laying particular stress on the expansion plans to be undertaken during the coming year. "Banks," he said "and manufacturing plants are on a high plane and there is no reason why the bottling industry cannot be made just high—that the bottler's industry ranked as high as any industry in the production of wholesome products."

Candler Applauded. Howard Candler, head of the Atlanta Coca-Cola company, was introduced at the conclusion of President Rainwater's address and received an enthusiastic reception. A very interesting short address followed the introduction of Mr. Candler when Mr. Yamamoto, managing director of the Japan Beer and Mineral Springs company, Ltd., arose and addressed the chair. He briefly stated the situation of his interest in the Nippon and Hirona springs which, he stated, and been famous for their natural carbonated waters since the eleventh century. He said that the consumption of soft drinks and beverages in Japan was increasing annually at a rate of 30 per cent, despite the fact that the cost was very high in comparison with the earnings of the average Japanese citizen. Mr. Yamamoto also stated that the demand was not so great because the air in Japan was not as dry as it is in America and that the little country is noted for its great mineral waters. In concluding his remarks he congratulated the association between the United States and Japan. As he made reference to this subject, a silence gripped the big audience as the speaker said: "Let me express my heartiest desire for amicable friendship between the United States and Japan forever."

Secretary Reports. Reports of the secretary, Junior Owens, of Washington, D. C.; the treasurer, R. L. Ellis, of Asheville, N. C.; the legislative committee, by Chairman James Vernon, Jr., of Detroit; the finance committee, by Chairman W. B. Hatfield, and other committees, were gratifying. The reports were full and showed plainly that the committees had worked in their respective channels and had achieved marked results. An indication of the popularity of the Atlanta convention is gathered from the announcement of Junior Owens, national secretary, to the effect that 700 more members had registered at Wednesday noon for the present convention than had registered during the entire session of the St. Louis convention in 1921. Three thousand bond-fide bottlers of the nation are attending the exposition of carbonated beverages and accessories. There has been an average daily attendance of 1,000 people who are attracted from Atlanta and nearby sections and who have no personal interest except to witness the display of machinery and the attractively designed booths. The convention will close on Friday of this week, but the exposition will continue on through Saturday, many visiting bottlers have evidenced their intention of remaining in the city for the conclusion of the exposition and a large number of visitors like Atlanta so well that they will remain over until next week before returning to their homes, it was stated.

SENATE SITUATION STILL IN TANGLE

Both Mrs. W. H. Felton and Judge Walter George Prepare to Leave Homes for Washington.

Rome, Ga., November 15.—Senator-elect Walter F. George, in a telephone conversation late today with Mrs. W. H. Felton, at Cartersville, informed her of his willingness to give up his seat in the United States senate for one day, and the two will meet in Atlanta Friday in regard to the matter, according to information received here tonight. Mr. George informed Mr. Felton that he would be glad to comply with the desire of thousands of women in the country that a woman sit in the senate, if only one day, the report said. Mrs. Felton will leave Cartersville for Washington tomorrow evening, stopping in Atlanta to meet Mr. George Friday.

With both the secretary of state and the governor's office standing firm throughout Wednesday in their conflicting attitudes on the Georgia senatorial tangle, uncertainty prevailed Wednesday night as to whether Judge Walter F. George, senator-elect will receive his commission and letter of credentials to the United States senate when he calls for them this morning. Secretary of State S. Guyton McLeoden, steadfastly refused to sign the commission or affix the great seal of state to it Wednesday declaring that it would be illegal for him to do so until final returns were received from fourteen missing counties and until the canvassing board had officially

Reckless Motorists Are Shown Victims Of Traffic Accidents

Detroit, Mich., November 15.—Judge Charles L. Bartlett, of recorder's court, who has imprisoned several hundred reckless motorists here during the past year, sentenced 28 persons today, then escorted them to receiving hospital, where they were taken through a ward occupied by children and adults injured in traffic accidents. The sight of the victims, Judge Bartlett said, he believed, would have a sobering influence on those convicted.

GIGANTIC MERGER OF MEAT PACKERS IS NOW PROPOSED

Plans of Armour & Co. to Absorb Another Concern Laid Before U. S. Officials.

GOVERNMENT APPROVAL NECESSARY UNDER LAW

Not Known Which Company Involved, Though Wilson and Morris Both Are Mentioned.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, November 15.—J. Ogden Armour, head of the meat packing house of Armour & Co., presented today to Attorney-General Daugherty and Secretary Wallace, of the department of agriculture, a proposal for government approval, a suggestion for merging through purchase the physical assets of another of the "big five" national packing houses with Armour & Co. Which of the concerns the Armour organization proposes to absorb was not disclosed, although both Wilson & Co., and Morris & Co., of the packing group have been mentioned. Officials refrained from expressing an opinion in the matter.

Mr. Armour tonight likewise declined to make any statement, except that he intended to remain in Washington for another day. It was assumed that a desire to determine the legality of such a merger, in advance of taking any steps to complete it, had led to the consultation with officials. Secretary Wallace, after his conference with Mr. Armour and several associates who accompanied him to Washington, issued a statement saying he had expressed no opinion on the Armour plan, and it was indicated that Attorney-General Daugherty had likewise withheld decision, although immediate consideration was promised for it.

In his statement Mr. Wallace said: "Mr. Armour and two members of his staff were here this morning and informally advised the secretary that they were considering the matter of purchasing the physical assets of another packing plant. The secretary expressed no opinion concerning the matter."

TANGLE IS FOUND IN STOCKADE SITE GIFT FOR SCHOOL

Park Board Now in Control of 93 Acres, Leaving Only About 7 Acres for Education Board.

NEW COUNCIL ACTION DECLARED NECESSARY

In Meanwhile Opponents of School on Stockade Site Are Getting Ready for Big Battle.

BY HENSON TATUM. The city stockade building, the ground on which it stands, the stables and rock quarry consisting of probably seven acres.

Is this all the board of education got last week when it accepted council's grant of the entire stockade tract of 100 acres as the site on which to locate the $750,000 senior girls' high school?

It appeared Wednesday that this is really and legally the case, and the park board is in control of the remainder of the tract, probably 93 acres. On October 2, this year, council adopted a resolution to which was attached a map of the stockade grounds, turning over to the park department all of the property, except the prison building, stables and rock quarry, "who shall have control and supervision of the same, the care of the golf links and grounds, the collection and reports of receipts therefrom and generally the same authority over same as is exercised over the other parks of the city." The park board immediately assumed control.

Given to School Board. Seven months prior, on March 23, council passed a resolution offering the stockade tract, or any part of it, to the board of education to be used for educational purposes.

Not until last week was the offer accepted, more than a month after the property had passed into the hands of the park board. Members of council, as they learned of the novel situation Wednesday, said that to complete the turnover to the education board, council will have to repeal its resolution of October 2, and pass a new resolution of gift to the education board.

Opponents of the stockade tract began to prime themselves for a real battle. Councilman T. Frank Callaway said he would fight to the last ditch before he would see the girls' school go there.

Protest Meeting Called. Another development in the school tangle came Wednesday in the announcement of a city-wide mass meeting at the Baptist Tabernacle Saturday night at 8 o'clock to protest locating the girls' institution on the prison site. Members of the bond commission and board of education opposing the site will be invited to attend and address the meeting.

Arrangements for the gathering and invitations are being sent out by J. A. White, of the fourth ward, and F. B. Florence, of the second ward. By an 8 to 5 vote Tuesday the bond commission ratified acceptance of the stockade tract, but the minority served notice of a reconsideration at the next meeting.

Councilman J. C. Murphy, a leader in the movement to move the prison and substitute a school, said Wednesday before he had heard of the new turn complicating the controversy, that a reconsideration would be an empty move because a majority of the commission has acted favorably and the way is open for a final settlement of the matter at council meeting Monday.

A brisk stirring about of council members started as soon as the news was spread about that the stockade fight will probably be reopened on the floor of council. Still another protest against the stockade site has been filed by the women's auxiliary of the North Boulevard Park Civic league, which at a recent meeting condemned the plot as "unwise because of location, environment and inaccessibility." The league auxiliary further asked the city authorities to reopen the subject of selecting a site for the girls' school with a view to selecting "a more suitable location."

U. S. SENDS RELIEF TO 'QUAKE VICTIMS BY FAST CRUISERS

Another Earthquake, Followed by Tidal Wave, Is Reported in Chile Early Wednesday.

U. S. CONSUL'S REPORTS BRING PROMPT ACTION

Ships Will Carry Rations for 1,000 Persons, and Big Clothing and Shoe Supplies.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Santiago, Chile, November 15.—The authorities at Coquimbo reported today that a strong earthquake accompanied by a tidal wave, was experienced there at 25 minutes after midnight this morning. No further damage was caused. The population was on the alert and no casualties were reported.

U. S. CRUISERS RUSHING RELIEF

Washington, November 15.—The cruisers Cleveland and Denver today were ordered to proceed to Huasco, Chile, with food, clothing and medicine for relief of the region recently devastated by the earthquake. Secretary of Navy Denby issued the order by direction of President Harding.

The Cleveland, now in the canal zone, is expected to be ready to sail within twenty-four hours and the Denver, now enroute to the canal zone, probably will be ready within four days.

It is estimated that nine days will be consumed in reaching the Chilean port. After reaching Haico, the ship will be guided by the necessities of the situation. Each vessel will have on board one medical officer, and an extra doctor. Regular navy rations for 1,000 persons for thirty days will be put aboard at the canal zone and in addition relief clothing for 4,000 persons and shoes for 2,000.

This measure of relief is distinct from any that may be afforded by the Red Cross, it was explained, and the president's action was decided on after receipt of messages from the American ambassador and consul in Chile.

Promised "Better Days," Elopes; She Now Repents

Mrs. Hettie Ballenger and James D. Draper Now in Federal Net.

Declaring that she was promised "better days" if she would leave her husband and elope, Mrs. Hettie Ballenger, who claims Taluca, Ala., as her home, told Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter Wednesday that James D. Draper, a traveling salesman, persuaded her to leave her home and come to Atlanta.

Mrs. Ballenger and Draper were taken into custody at a local hotel early Wednesday morning by agents of the United States department of justice where they were registered as man and wife. The latter was bound over to the district court on a charge of violating the Mann white slave law in bond of $1,000, in default of which he was locked in the Fulton tower. Mrs. Ballenger was released.

At the preliminary trial Mrs. Ballenger, in tears, told of her "unhappy romance" which she said had its inception about six weeks ago when she met Draper at Taluca. Several letters passed between them, she declared, Draper urging her to meet him in Huntsville and promising to show her "better days."

"I thought I had at last found happiness," sobbed the woman, "and expected James to find a little home somewhere for us and settle down. My husband didn't seem to appreciate me and I was very unhappy at home. After promising me better days and pledging to love me always I finally consented to meet James in Huntsville. When I left home I had $201.85 which I gave to him. We went several places in Tennessee and Alabama and finally came to Atlanta, arriving here October 21. James gave me back $50 of the money I entrusted to him."

Allies Receive Note From Kemalists Declaring Mudania Terms Will Be Fully Respected.

NOTE BRINGS RELIEF TO ALLIED POWERS

It Is Believed That All Danger of Break Before Lausanne Parley Is Removed.

Constantinople, November 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Any immediate danger of a rupture between the allies and the Kemalists authorities seems to have been dissipated today by the receipt by the allies of a note from the Ankara government declaring that the terms of the Mudania compact will be respected by the nationalists and that there will be no insistence on the withdrawal of allied troops from the zones laid down in the Mudania convention.

The note brought relief to the allied authorities and the population of the capital who had seriously doubted the good intentions of the Ankara government. It is felt here that the unfavorable reception of the Kemalists demands caused them to adopt a more conciliatory attitude.

While all the clauses of the nationalist note are not wholly acceptable or pleasing to the allies, the document is considered to offer a reasonable basis for discussion and negotiation. In diplomatic circles it is felt that the note precludes the danger of war before the convocation of the Lausanne peace conference.

The Kemalists note says: "The government of the great national assembly affirms once again its determination to respect the stipulations of the Mudania convention, and, inasmuch as the allies also desire maintenance of the convention, the national government considers it very important that agreement should prevail with regard to the interpretation of details as well as the basis of this convention."

"The national government takes note of the declaration in the note addressed to Rafet Pasha by the allied general staff stating that the allied high commissioners will not in any way oppose decisions adopted by the Turkish government with regard to internal administration. While accepting the presence of allied troops within the limits established by the Mudania convention, and while being willing to discuss the measures to be taken in order to assure the security of said troops, the national government, seeing that it has assumed the duty of insuring order and security in the capital, requests the cessation of interference in the shape of control by allied troops in our internal administration."

"The government of the national assembly, into whose hands the administration of Constantinople has returned and which only carries into execution its own laws and regulations, renews the expression of its intention to accept interference in its internal affairs. In these circumstances the national government relies on the conciliatory attitude of the allied powers."

MRS. A. H. GOSSETT
BRUISED WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. A. H. Gossett, of 246 Stewart avenue, was bruised and scratched when struck by an automobile in Stewart avenue about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening, and her husband narrowly escaped injuries. Mrs. Gossett was rushed to the Grady hospital.

Dr. G. A. Howell, negro, of 184 McDaniel street, who was operating the car that hit Mrs. Gossett, was arrested by Call Officers G. E. Williams and Fred Bullard under charges of reckless driving. The case was set for hearing Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Gossett was stricken by the automobile as she was about to get on an inbound Stewart avenue street car. Mr. Gossett was holding her elbow to assist her when the automobile skidded on the wet pavement, striking Mrs. Gossett and knocking her several feet beyond her husband. The auto then rammed into the rear end of the street car.

W. L. Owens, of 124 Peoples street, who was a passenger on the car, got off and assisted in taking Mrs. Gossett to the hospital. He stated he did not see the auto strike Mrs. Gossett, but heard the squeaking sound of the brakes being applied and felt the jar from the impact of the machine and the street car.

Dr. Howell stated that the wet pavement caused the wheels to skid, otherwise the accident would not have happened. He stated he was not running more than 20 miles per hour.

$250,000 Bond
Issue Is Handled
By Adair Co.

Money Will Be Used in Providing City With Model Apartment House.

Announcement is made today by Adair Realty and Trust company of a $250,000 issue of first mortgage 7 per cent serial gold bonds to provide capital for a $500,000 five-story apartment building to be known as the 606 Peachtree apartment at southeast corner of Peachtree and Sixth streets—construction on which started several weeks ago.

This issue marks the second of a series to be announced recently by the bond department of above house—the last being a $180,000 issue on the Guaranty building in West Palm Beach, Fla., which, when completed, will be one of the largest office buildings in the state.

The $250,000 issue of Adair protected bonds announced will provide capital for the most completely and finely appointed five-story apartment in the south.

investor and are arranged in serial maturities from one to twelve years. They are a direct obligation of the Real Estate Investment corporation, owners of the property, and constitute a first, closed mortgage on the building, land and earnings of the property located on the southeast corner of Peachtree and Sixth streets.

The property fronts 100 feet on Peachtree and runs back to a depth of 200 feet on Sixth street.

"The yearly net earnings of the building have been conservatively estimated at $31,010," stated Frank Adair, vice president of Adair Realty and Trust company, "and judging from the applications our renting department already has in hand, there will be a long waiting list for apartments in this building when it is ready for occupancy. The maximum income will be derived from the day the building is completed. We feel a particular pride in this issue which we have underwritten, because we are in close touch with the trend of housing problems in this city and are confident that this never type apartment is the first of its kind to be erected in answer to the urgent need in Atlanta for better living accommodations in apartments of small units.

The location for an apartment of this character is ideal, and it is within walking distance of the business section. The apartments will be reasonably priced and will include every possible service and convenience. The 606 Peachtree apartment will establish a new and higher level of apartment standards in Atlanta. From a standpoint of convenience in arrangement, from a construction standpoint, the 606 Peachtree apartment will be unequalled in the entire south.

To insure prompt payment of principal and interest as it falls due, we have stipulated that the borrower make payments each month to the trustee of one-twelfth of the total amount due during the year. By thus requiring the borrower to pay off a certain portion of the loan each year without releasing any part of the original security, the safety of the bonds is greatly increased. Because of the many attractive features of this underwriting, we do not believe that the bonds of this issue will be available for any length of time."

Beautiful Structure.

The building was designed by Hentz, Reid & Adler, prominent architects in the south. Built in strict accordance with plans and specifications, the 606 Peachtree apartment building will be one of the most beautiful and imposing structures on Peachtree street.

The building will be constructed of reinforced concrete and steel, which will render it as substantial and fireproof as an office building. The exterior will be finished in colorful colonial brick. The construction of the floors and walls will render the building sound proof. The most unusual feature will be the fact that practically all the apartments occupy corner locations, made possible by the careful planning of wide, spacious courts which will provide an abundance of light and fresh air. Excellent elevator service will be maintained. A cafe with seating capacity for eighty will be provided on the dining floor with entrance on Sixth street.

The building is now under course of construction and its completion in accordance with the plans and specifications is unconditionally guaranteed to the bondholders by the Adair Realty and Trust company. The price is par and secured interest to net 7 per cent.

MASSELL WILL ERECT
TWO MORE BUILDINGS

Two more buildings are to be erected in the new Whitehall street industrial section by the Massell Realty company, according to announcement Wednesday. The aggregate cost will be $125,000, it was stated.

A three-story building will be located on a plot 55 by 200 feet at 567 Whitehall street, at an approximate cost of $50,000. The site is opposite the beginning of Stewart avenue. A two-story structure will be built on a 100 by 200 lot known as 475 Whitehall street at an estimated cost of $75,000. Both buildings will be subdivided for leasing to tenants.

WASHINGTON ALL CASE REVERSED

Supreme Court Orders Famous Bibb Case to Be Tried On Its Merits.

Macon, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—The famous Washington case, which involves a $200,000 estate of the late Hugh V. Washington, of Macon, is to be tried on its merits, the supreme court of Georgia having today reversed the decision of Judge Mathews of Bibb superior court in favor of Mr. Washington's sister, Mrs. E. W. Bellamy.

The case has been tried three times and has been pending in the Bibb county courts for 12 years. Mr. Washington's will left his property to his sister for her lifetime, after which numerous bequests to educational and patriotic institutions were to be made. Contest of the will was begun by the children of Mr. Washington's brother, who were not mentioned in the document.

At the first trial the contestants succeeded in having the will set aside on the ground that Mrs. Bellamy had practiced undue influence on her brother. A new trial was granted and at the second hearing a mistrial resulted. At the third trial Judge Mathews directed a verdict in favor of Mrs. Bellamy.

The reversal of this decision by the supreme court today means that the case will now be tried on its merits. The $200,000 of bonds with which the Washington Memorial library was built and presented to the city of Macon by Mrs. Bellamy as a memorial to her brother are involved in the suit.

MERCER ENROLLMENT REACHES 800 MARK

Macon, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—The aim of Dr. Rufus W. Weaver to have 800 men at Mercer university during the present school year has been attained, the registrar's book today showing that after the elimination of withdrawals and doubles in registration, over 800 names remain on the books.

Dr. Weaver further announced that it is his intention to give the students a big banquet in celebration of the attainment of the goal for 1922.

Last year the enrollment at Mercer was 602. This year all the states south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers are represented, as are New York and Massachusetts. There are students from China, Japan, Korea, Brazil and Scotland. Tennessee has the largest representation outside of Georgia.

GEORGIA FRUIT MEN ADDRESSED ON ORGANIZATION

Valdosta, Ga., November 15.—Two groups of business men and fruit and vegetable growers were addressed here yesterday afternoon by J. S. Edwards, of Redlands, Cal., president of the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, Inc., on the benefits derived from organized selling and buying, provided, of course, standardized products are offered for market.

In addition to Mr. Edwards, J. B. White, president of the North American Fruit exchange; Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture Hancock, M. C. Gay, director of the state market bureau; Benjamin Baker, of Belton, a director of the Cotton Growers' association, and several railroad men were present.

Savannah Was Not Engaged to Dorothy Gordon, He Declares

Savannah, November 15.—(Special.)—Willard Newell, young electrical engineer of Savannah, has received a subpoena to go to Boston to testify in the Dorothy Gordon hearing and he has no intention of going there, he declared. "So far as I am concerned the case is closed," he stated.

Miss Gordon is alleged to have been sent to the asylum as being insane by her guardian, William F. Jardine, to prevent her marriage to Mr. Newell. On the stand Mr. Jardine stated he knew this was the only way to prevent the marriage. Mr. Newell has stated that he had no intention of marrying Miss Gordon. They were merely good friends, he said.

It was stated yesterday Mr. Newell might be called as a witness.

SENATE SITUATION STILL IN TANGLE

certified the consolidated vote. This board is composed of Governor Hardwick, Comptroller William A. Wright and the secretary of state.

Will Go to Washington.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, appointed by the governor to the ad interim term that followed between the time of the Senator Watson's death and the general election of November 7, and Judge George, who was overwhelmingly elected, are preparing to leave for Washington so as to be there when the joint session of congress convenes Monday, November 20.

In a wire to his private secretary Wednesday, Governor Hardwick, who is in New York, requested that the board of canvassers be called together and have the secretary of state and comptroller general declare a majority of votes in favor of Judge George, and issue his commission to him Thursday morning. The governor's wire follows: "Please convene board of canvassers in my name and have majority declared result. After then have Senator Watson's death and the general election of November 7, and Judge George, who was overwhelmingly elected, are preparing to leave for Washington so as to be there when the joint session of congress convenes Monday, November 20.

in the senate, due to delay in completing Senator-elect George's commission. The official of the senate today pointed out that unless the practice observed since the seventeenth amendment, providing for the direct election of members, is abandoned it would be impossible for her to take her seat next week.

A precedent having direct bearing on the case is being recalled in the appointment several years ago of former Senator Benet, of South Carolina, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Tillman. The appointment was made in July, with the general elections following in November of the same year. Congress not being in session, the ad interim appointee could not be sworn in until the regular constitutional convention of December. Meantime, Senator Dial was elected.

An effort made to have Senator Benet paid from the election date until Senator Dial qualified in December. But it was unsuccessful, his appointment being that of election. A resolution proposing to pay Mr. Benet for the time was voted down.

This is said to offer a parallel case to that of Mrs. Felton, who would indicate that the Georgia woman's salary stopped on the date of Mr. George's election.

Because of the appropriation act providing that payment shall not be made to three senators from a single state at the same time, the senate disbursing clerk would not be able to compensate Mrs. Felton without a special resolution, which likewise means she would be unable to serve.

Under the constitution the senate is sole judge of the qualifications of its own members. If because of a desire to please the women voters, the senate should decide to seat Mrs. Felton until Mr. George qualifies, then an appropriation would have to be made from November 7 on.

The contention is made in some quarters, however, that Mrs. Felton ceased to be senator November 7, the date Mr. George was elected—and therefore she could not be seated November 20.

WOULD PUT TEETH IN LABOR BOARD of the president's desires. For Cummins there is a certain pride of authorship in this matter, and the senate had passed such anti-strike clause in the original bill, only to surrender it in conference with the house interstate commerce committee.

Opposition to the second provision is certain. Any such law, Labor is sure to oppose the third or both on general principles and on the ground that an entirely public tribunal doesn't touch anything about the railroad industry. The fourth provision might be accepted. The fifth provision would satisfy labor although the carriers might balk at the manner of determining what is "just and reasonable." The sixth provision might be controversial.

Just when these amendments will be acted upon is uncertain. It is because the ship subsidy is the first order of business in the house next Monday, and the Dyer anti-lynching law in the senate. Added to these are the appropriations bills, which may be blocked by a filibuster and placed at the mercy of the new congress. This may be the destiny of the railroad legislation, but the administration plans to risk the very life of the labor board to put teeth in it, nevertheless.

RALSTON BOOMED FOR WHITE HOUSE

intimating that in a "front porch campaign," as well as in going about and meeting the people Ralston is one of the type that could "make friends wherever he goes."

"Honest Sam."

There are few men who have reached high position in politics who are as few enemies "Honest Sam" Ralston, those who are betting on him as a candidate, declare.

When he assumes his duties here as senator on March 1, 1923, it will be his second political office. He was governor of Indiana, 1913-1916. His administration was one of marked economy, and he was generally lauded for having no spectacular attempt to make over the government.

He has taken an active part in democratic politics since making his first campaign speech in 1896. He was once nominated by acclaim as the democratic party's candidate for secretary of state, and in 1888 as joint state senator. He was a presidential elector in 1892.

accomplish a great deal during the remaining time according to the program presented at the meeting Wednesday, and the other newly organized forces will supplement the returns from the original teams who have been working all the time.

The group of Rotarians who pledged themselves to devote time to the campaign reported Wednesday and went to work. A second group will report Thursday, and the Kiwanis club has called to the "colors" 41 of their members for the remainder of the week.

A telegram was dispatched to such of the 41 Kiwanis Wednesday calling attention to the splendid work being put in by other civic organizations, and urging them not to fail to come up to what was expected of them as Kiwanians. Walter C. Barnwell, who succeeded T. C. Law as leader of one of the general divisions, signed the telegram. He is a member of the Kiwanis club and also president of the Inter-Civic council.

J. R. Regan, president of the Lions' club, who has been out of the city lately, was present at the luncheon Wednesday, and heard the announcement that so far the Lions' club was leading the other civic organization in actual results secured thus far.

W. R. G. Smith, director of the campaign, will address the Citizens at the meeting Friday, carrying out the suggestion of Mr. Brown.

"The time has now come," said Mr. Smith at the luncheon, "when the responsibility for this movement lies largely with the largest business institutions. We must put the matter up to them—they are responsible for the outcome—their failing Atlanta at this time is their loss."

Report Submitted.

J. R. Nix, vice-president of the Britling restaurants, one of the most efficient and tireless workers during the entire campaign, with his final report Wednesday brought the total number of memberships secured by him personally up to 20. Attention was called to this record by the directors of the campaign, and it was pointed out that the scores of workers now pledged, as well as those already working, would more than attain the goal sought if they were capable of breaking the record set by a luncheon report.

Thursday for receiving reports and discussing important questions relating to the work. The luncheon Wednesday was pronounced the most enjoyable meeting of the kind since the campaign started, and this was attributed to the fact that such good reports were received and to the general feeling of optimism which prevailed.

President Foote closed the meeting with a number of jokes and stories, all bearing on the conditions now have waited almost too long to capitalize a similar sentiment here.

Fifteenth Unpleasant.

The English, having passed the early reaction from the war, are now filled with the same fitful uneasiness regarding the future and the same complexity and gravity concerning national problems as imbued the Americans when they joined the republican party November 7. Both countries are now engaged in a contest between conservatism and progressivism.

While the conservative majority in the house of commons is threatened, they still have a good chance to hold on with a reduced majority—something like the recently elected republican majority in the American congress.

LADY ASTOR HOLDS SEAT

Plymouth, November 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lady Astor was returned to parliament today for the Station division of Plymouth in an election which resulted in a harder fight than when she first was sent to Westminster to represent her constituency.

A notable point in the balloting was how nearly the number of votes for and against her corresponded with the 1919 election. Today Lady Astor polled 13,924 votes, while in 1919 she was given 14,495. Captain G. W. Brennan, the labor candidate, had 10,831 today, as against 9,292 for the same party's candidate in 1919, while today's vote for the independent conservative was 4,643 as compared with 4,189 in the 1919 by election.

Party lines counted for little today. The personality of Lady Astor and her social policies were the main features of the contest. The comparatively small vote, which was badly polled, was a surprise to the conservatives who opposed Lady Astor, and who thought by running another conservative against her they would insure her defeat.

By splitting the party votes Lady Astor lost many conservative's ballots, but she made compensating gains from the labor and liberal camps. The threat of prohibition in the liquor control bill, Lady Astor supported, was the spearhead of the fight against her.

After the result of the balloting had been declared tonight Lady Astor said that her fight had been a straight one, with labor or some of the laborites, and she was sorry that it had not been a longer fight. Nevertheless she was delighted at having won.

"The split in the conservative party," the victorious candidate declared, "brought labor dangerously near success, and but for a hard fight labor might have won. I hope it will be a lesson to the conservative party."

ATHLETIC TO FIGHT INDUSTRIOUS WING

Clash Between White House and Radicals Over Ship Subsidy Measure Foreshadowed.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, November 15.—Threats of revolt from republican progressives in congress have drawn a prompt challenge from the white house. President Harding has decided to find out at once who is master. Immediately upon the reconvening of congress next Monday, he will begin a fight with the obstreperous progressives within his own party which will have a vital effect on his own personal fortunes, and those of his party, in the 1934 presidential elections.

This was foreshadowed by two significant developments Tuesday. 1. A declaration by Senator Borah, the most powerful individual in the progressive wing, that an attempt by the administration to jam through the ship subsidy measure would be a "second attempt at political suicide."

2. Positive word from the white house a few hours later that President Harding is calling congress back two weeks earlier, especially to put through the subsidy measure and that he will make every effort to obtain action.

Crucial Row Ahead.

With both sides thus firmly committed to opposing courses, the man in the white house is headed straight for one of the most crucial struggles of his administration. If he wins, he will have achieved a great moral victory which will brace him tremendously for the inevitable rough travelling when the new congress comes in. If he loses, the progressives will tuck away a fine, large scalp and sharpen their tomahawks for still bigger game.

Harding is taking this course in face of the warning of many of his advisers who are extremely doubtful whether the administration should risk such a blow to its prestige as defeat of the subsidy would be. With all of President Harding's care in omitting antagonizing features from the proposal, the very mention of a "ship subsidy" is still enough to start an indignation meeting in any cross-roads grocery store.

Opening Guns Fired.

Progressives and radicals who stumped the middle west in the recent campaign did their best to convince the inland voters that a ship subsidy is something that has horns and a forked tail. Senator Borah has delivered his opening war whoop on the subsidy. That in itself is significant. One nationally known republican, for years closely identified with the party machinery, a man who always keeps two faces to the public, the one a writer a few days ago that President Harding was making a mistake in pressing the issue at this time. He was warning that a politician interested in a republican majority in 1934.

But President Harding, with a persistence which has surprised some of his closest friends, believes that the ultimate welfare of the country demands a great fleet of merchantmen under the American flag. He sees only one way to get it. The government must hand over enough money to give ship builders and operators a fighting chance against the subsidized shipping of other nations. He will say this to congress next week in the most emphatic language at his command. Then one decisive battle of his career will begin.

NEW U. S. SENATORS PLANNING RADICAL CHANGES IN LAWS

Butte Mont., November 15.—Radical changes in existing laws will be advocated by the newly elected senators from the west, middle west and far west, once they take their seats in congress.

In an exclusive statement to the United News, Burton K. Wheeler, democratic senator-elect from this state as a result of last Tuesday's vote, added his voice to those of Henrik Shipstead and others who rode into power with the aid of farmer, labor and non-partisan league votes—votes warning of stormy days ahead for the administration.

"It is absolutely necessary to have legislation to stabilize the price of basic farm products such as wheat, corn and cotton," said Wheeler. "Furthermore, trade relations should immediately be established with all European countries."

"The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill should be repealed in order that Europe may be placed in a position to exchange many of her products for ours."

"We must help the civilization of Europe if we are to help ourselves. An effective child labor law should be passed."

"Political prisoners should be released."

"The Esch-Cummins railroad law should be repealed."

"If the service cannot be improved and freight rates reduced under private ownership of the railroads, then the railroads should be taken over by the government to be run in the interests of the people."

F. J. BURTON HEADS TICKET AGENTS; CONVENTION ENDS

Savannah, Ga., November 15.—The following officers were elected by the American Association of Railroad Ticket Agents today:

President, F. J. Burton, Chicago, Ill.; vice president, J. H. Cronk, Savannah; secretary-treasurer, E. R. Hutton, Chicago, Ill. Executive committee, E. J. Butterworth, Columbus, Ohio; L. Bluestone, Syracuse, N. Y.; N. L. Bassett, Indianapolis, Ind.; F. J. Eddy, Chicago, Ill.; W. E. Frackelton, Detroit.

These are all re-elections except Cronk, who succeeds F. J. Sawyer, of St. Paul, Minn., and L. Bluestone, Syracuse, N. Y., who succeeds H. S. Bare, Chicago.

Portland, Ore., was chosen as the next meeting place. Mr. Burton announced there would be no changes in the advisory committee which he appoints. Regional representatives have not yet been elected. They will be chosen en route to Havana.

NEGRO WHO LIVED OVER 100 YEARS DIES IN BLAZE

Thomasville, Ga., November 15.—(Special).—Living to be more than a hundred years old and then dying by being caught in a burning house was the fate of George Hadley, an old and well known negro of Thomasville. George was living alone in a house. When neighbors saw the blaze from the burning building it was too hot to get it until the fire department arrived and turned on the hose. They found the old negro dead, probably suffocated by the smoke.

George gave his age at the last census as over a hundred.

Commission Rule For Cities Lauded By Governor Allen

Kansas City, November 15.—The commission form of municipal government was lauded by Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, in an address before an open session of the City Managers' association convention here last night.

"The greatest success of the commission form of government," Governor Allen said, "is it getting away from what damns the other sort of municipal administration, that is, the mixing of political efforts in the control of affairs. The rights of the people are being overridden in many cities because of the indifference of a lazy public. Wherever I have heard of 'boss-ridden' cities I always have less sympathy after investigation, because the cause is always the same. The only cure is righteous indignation among the citizens."

"Beware of your friends and have no friendship in your appointments," the governor admonished the city managers.

PARACHUTE SAVES LIFE OF AVIATOR

Seattle, Wash., November 15.—When the airplane in which he was flying at a height of 3,000 feet here today got beyond control and started to earth, Lieutenant Frank R. Tyndall, U. S. army pilot, leaped in a parachute and escaped with slight scratches. The plane was destroyed. Lieutenant Tyndall's only injuries were scratches received when he struck a number of telephone wires in his descent.

British Embassy Pickets Freed, Cases Dismissed

Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney and Eight Women Win in Washington Court.

Washington, November 15.—The cases against Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney and eight other women, members of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, arrested for picketing the British embassy yesterday, were dismissed after a hearing today by United States Commissioner George H. MacDonald, because the proof did not "measure up to the intent of the law."

When arraigned Mrs. MacSwiney, who is the widow of Terence MacSwiney, the late lord mayor of Cork, F. Finerty, president of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, offered evidence to show that the British ambassador was not in the building at the time of the demonstration. It also contended, after statements had been made by Commissioner MacDonald and Joseph H. Bilbrey, assistant United States district attorney, who conducted the government's argument, that no warrant had been issued yesterday for the arrest of the women, that holding three of the prisoners overnight in a house of detention was illegal.

After the dismissal, however, Mr. Finerty and Michael Francis Doyle, of Philadelphia, Mrs. MacSwiney's personal counsel, said this phase of the matter would be dropped.

After being discharged, Mrs. MacSwiney expressed elation, but said she had expected nothing else. In reply to questions from friends she said that after a short rest in Virginia, made necessary by a recent illness, she would continue her tour speaking in behalf of the Irish republican movement, which she said "would certainly win out in the end for the Irish free state is really non-existent." Her only worry, she added, was for the safety of Miss Mary MacSwiney, who, she said, was not strong enough to continue long her hunger strike, now in the twelfth day, and for her four-year-old daughter Marie, of whom she has heard no word for several days. Marie, she explained, was at the home of a woman in Ireland which was recently "attacked by free state troops."

Much Laughter.

Commissioner MacDonald declared no infringement had been shown and he was, therefore, forced to release the prisoners under the law, but believed some measures should be taken to afford visiting ambassadors protection against a repetition of yesterday's act.

Commissioner MacDonald was forced several times to admonish the women prisoners and spectators to refrain from open comments and laughter during the proceedings. He finally obtained silence by declaring that he would institute action against them for disregarding the sanctity of the law if they repeated the offense.

Mrs. MacSwiney, Mrs. Mary Ann Nolan, Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Minnie Kearney, of Washington, spent last night in the house of destruction when they refused bond. The other six women were freed upon after their arrest on bond furnished by the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

"THE HEDGES" BURNS IN NORTH AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., November 15.—(Special).—"The Hedges," handsome colonial home of the late W. B. Brigham, occupying one of the most commanding sites on Carolina Heights, in north Augusta, just across the Savannah river from this city, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin during Tuesday night. The loss is placed at $30,000.

The three-story residence, which was one of the most palatial in north Augusta, stood at one of the highest points overlooking Augusta. Only a small amount of the household furnishings were saved, including some family silver. Beside the residence, a nearby wood house, containing about 21 cords of wood, was destroyed.

She looked back as she passed and saw him hit the little boy. Rose Campbell Says Her Father Whipped Her for Burning Meat.

Macon, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—Rose Campbell, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Chester Wilson, held in the city barracks here on a charge of kidnapping the girl, awaiting word from the Atlanta authorities who caused the arrest, this afternoon begged her mother to take her away from the station.

The child told the station sergeant that she begged her mother to take her away from her father, T. H. Campbell, with whom the child had lived since the couple were divorced. Mrs. Wilson asked, after the child had told her story, "She is my own daughter and she came to me of her own accord. My husband and I have been traveling about the country in search of work. I want my daughter and she has done nothing to be put in jail for."

Mrs. Wilson, formerly Mrs. Campbell, is the mother of five children, who were awarded the father by the Fulton superior court, according to the latter.

She is alleged to have visited the children at the father's home last Saturday, taking Rose away with her. Police were told that she first tried to take Betty, the youngest girl.

Campbell has been separated from his wife, who has been living in Chattanooga, Tenn., for several years. Besides Rose, the 12-year-old, who was found in the custody of the mother in Macon, the other children are Alma, 9; Mary, 10; Betty, 8, and Millard, 7.

Campbell seemed jubilant over the news of the arrest of the mother and her husband and the prospects of an early return of the daughter, and indicated that he would prosecute his former wife under charges of kidnapping.

Introduction of testimony against Elmer Oliver, former president of the Oliver Rim company, on trial in Fulton superior court on embezzlement charges growing out of the sale of stock in his company, was begun Wednesday.

R. H. Lukenbill, former secretary and treasurer for the alleged defunct concern, was the only witness heard Wednesday. He gave a general account of the history of the organization, dating from the time Mr. Oliver came to Atlanta from Florida to promote the formation of a concern to manufacture an automobile wheel on which he held a patent.

It is alleged that of the $1,000,000 capital stock, Mr. Oliver was to receive $450,000 in stock for his patent. Oliver is charged with having sold shares of his own to investors who thought they were purchasing stock from the company. The funds were misappropriated, it is claimed.

Lukenbill is an expert accountant and was formerly special assistant bank examiner for the state. Mr. Oliver is represented by the law firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell and Herman. Solicitor Boykin is being assisted with the prosecution by Attorney George C. Spence.

"Under the packers and the stockyards act it is unlawful for any packer to engage in any course of business or do any act for the purpose, or with the effect of manipulating or controlling prices in commerce, or of creating a monopoly in the acquisition of, buying, selling, or dealing in, any article of commerce, or of restraining trade."

"Section six of the federal trade commission act provides that the commission shall also have power to gather and compile information concerning, and to investigate from time to time, the organization, business conduct, practice and management of any corporation engaged in commerce, excepting banks and common carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce, and its relation to other corporations and to individuals, associations, and partnerships. This part of the federal trade commission act is by reference made a part of Section 402 of the packers and stockyards act."

Steel Also Planning.
Somewhat similar approaches have been made to the government recently by heads of independent steel corporations contemplating merger, but Mr. Wallace's statement indicated that the packing industry, because of the existence of special legislation providing for its specific regulation by the federal government stood in a different position.

There is said to have been considerable discussion within the industry since the passage of these laws after a period of agitation backed by farm organizations, developing the suggestion that consolidations among the Big Five might be advantageous in a business way, and at the same time open to no public objection. Negotiations were understood to have reached the stage where officials of national farm organizations have been asked to say whether such consolidation, considering the degree of government control already in the field, would be regarded as hostile by other components of the livestock industry. Mr. Arnold's visit was understood to have resulted, not only from a desire to take all precautions against possi-

IF KIDNEYS BOTHER CUT DOWN ON MEAT

Take Tablespoonful of Salts
If Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

Too much meat may produce uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back, or the urine is cloudy, salt of sodium, or the bicarbonate, is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Epsom Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, and in a few days your kidneys may not fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to help neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending urinary and bladder disorders.

And Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to help to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drink plenty of water at all times.—(adv.)

Geo. R. Rusk and Prof. Watson on Program.

An artist who has sung all over the world since one who captivated music-loving radio enthusiasts was featured at 6 o'clock last evening from Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, who appeared the first of the week at the Lyric theater as Madame Arnal's accompanist and as a pianist.

Following the numbers by Madame Arnal and Mr. Warner, Professor James P. Watson, president of the Atlanta School of Orator and Expression, and George Watson were heard in a reading by Eloise Earle Dean, of Atlanta, while Mr. Rusk played two numbers that were delightful.

Madame Arnal has lived for years in India, and is a niece of Ethelbert Nevin, the composer. She opened her program last night from Station WGM with an old combination. She sang the Frank L. Stanton song, "Mighty Lak a Rose," that is dear to the heart of every southerner. It was the combination of the niece of the composer of the score for this number singing it from the radio station of the newspaper that has Frank L. Stanton as a member of its staff.

Has Real Charm.
Madame Arnal has a voice of real charm. Her tones are full and rich, and the shadings are exquisite. She has both force and range in her voice and she sang from station WGM last night she was delightful.

Mr. Warner is a capable pianist, whose accompaniments for Madame Arnal's numbers were unsurpassable. Mr. Warner played one piano solo. It was "Melodie," by Charles Huerter. This solo and the accompaniment displayed to advantage the talent which Mr. Warner has.

One of the interesting songs which Madame Arnal presented last night was "On the Road to Mandalay," which has the words by Rudyard Kipling. Madame Arnal gave this song an interpretation that is new to American ears, at least of the south. She sang it with the softness of India. She could do this because of her residence in Barmah. She has heard "those paddies chumkin" from Bangkok to Mandalay, and knows the pagodas of Moulinee. She has traveled the Irrawadi river, which is known as the scene of the Kipling verse that has the song.

"Sing," "The Rosary."
Madame Arnal was magnificent in her presentation of "The Rosary." She had the original manuscript in Paris which was first written by her uncle, Ethelbert Nevin.

"Absent," a number often sung by Madame Arnal, was featured last evening on her program. It brought out the softness of her voice.

"The Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Swanee River Moon" were her other offerings.

IN THE AIR WITH WGM

By One Who Reads Them All

THERE'S an old fairy tale about seven-league boots. The object of said boots was for the possessor thereof to cover seven leagues with one stride. And the tale of these boots was to the effect that any one possessing them could do this when wearing them.

Radio has been compared to a lot of fictitious contrivances like seven-league boots, and to a lot of other phenomena like the rings one sees after one throws a stone into the water.

This is the first time it has occurred to me that radio was like seven-league boots, however. But it does take that aspect when one looks into yesterday's mail and finds reports on Station WGM all the way from Maine to Washington.

Maine to Washington—that's across the continent!—is the distance covered by Station WGM and when one considers the breadth of this old United States it's a pretty good record for WGM to set.

THE notification from Washington was sent by N. P. Rich, of Tull & Gibbs, of Spokane. The Maine report is from "Merton W. Bessy, 72 Elm street, Waterville."

Mr. Bessy writing from Maine says: "Got your concert O. K. to night. Much interference by other stations. Have a Westinghouse instrument."

Mr. Rich couldn't wait to write, so he telegraphed and in his wire made sure that he would get some kind of report from the station. Mr. Rich is in one of his nightly sessions of whistling and one, two, three, fouring.

Mr. Rich wires from station in Georgia Tuesday 11:35. Spokane time, making time. Peculiar whistle and call began with one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, 200 BOTTLERS GATHER AT NU-GRAPE DINNER Hula Dance in Native Hawaiian Costume Is the Feature of Evening.

More than 200 bottlers from all parts of the country gathered at the banquet tables at the Ansley hotel last night as guests of the NuGrape Company of America. O. R. Randall, general manager of the company, was the toastmaster and had complete charge of the entertainment program and banquet.

The music for the evening was furnished by Miss Marvin and a well selected orchestra. Many musical numbers were rendered and a hula dance in native Hawaiian costume was given by Miss Catherine Jones. R. F. Jennings gave several vocal selections which were well received. Miss Marvin and Miss Jones also put on a cabaret dance which was highly entertaining and caused a great deal of applause among the bottlers. Another feature of the evening was the singing and playing of the guitar by Ernest Rogers.

After the banquet was served Mr. Randall introduced the speakers of the evening. Mr. Kelley, president of the NuGrape company, gave a welcome address to the bottlers, which was followed by W. F. Barron, president of Rome; H. R. Todd, president of Draughton Business College, of this city; J. J. Baxter, bottler of Jackson, Miss.; Dr. Dumas, ex-state chemist who is now chief chemist of the NuGrape company; F. E. Land, bottler of Macon, and T. E. Falvey, vice president of the George W. Ford company, who gave a very interesting and entertaining talk on newspaper advertising.

The NuGrape Company of America, while it has only been on the market for a very few years, yet in that time has built up an organization that in time will place this Atlanta-made product in every market where they drink soft drinks in the world.

Hard Struggles Confront Prep Elevens Friday and Saturday

Boys' High and University to Play on Foreign Ground—Tech High and G. M. A. to Play in Spite of Heavy Losses.

BY ROY E. WHITE.

All the city prep teams are undergoing a hard week of practicing in preparation for the games Friday and Saturday. Friday afternoon Tech high and G. M. A. will meet in the third city prep league game at Ponce de Leon at 2:30 o'clock.

Friday Boys' high and University school will leave to play on foreign soil Saturday afternoon. University will play the Cedartown high eleven Friday afternoon in Cedartown, while Boys' high will play the Charleston high team in Charleston, S. C. Saturday afternoon.

Locust Grove on the Marietta campus will play Friday afternoon. Locust Grove on the Marietta campus will play Friday afternoon. Locust Grove on the Marietta campus will play Friday afternoon.

It was announced Wednesday morning that the entire G. M. A. varsity team had been fired for breaking training rules but that does not mean that Coach Wright will give up in the game with the Smiths Friday afternoon. The G. M. A. second team is almost as good as the varsity and will give the Smiths all they are looking for.

That is probably the reason for the indifferent playing of the cadets this year. The team will be full of spectacular plays. The variations in the Marietta system of plays are beautiful and Coach Bean has certainly given his charges a variety of plays to work with.

KLAN INSURGENT IS ASSESSED $25 FINE IN COURT

Harry B. Terrell, head of the insurgent faction of the Ku Klux Klan, was fined $25 in the police court Wednesday on charges which were the outgrowth of a fictitious encounter with Paul S. Etheridge, attorney for the Klan, in a bank lobby several days ago.

The charges against Etheridge were dismissed. The judge, in fining Terrell, stated that "it was a mistake for him to go to the lobby of the building where Etheridge had his office and wait for him."

The trouble that culminated in the bank lobby had its inception, it is said, during a telephone communication between the two men, some time prior to the fight, when strong language was used in the discussion of a case pending against the Ku Klux Klan.

STATE HUMANE SOCIETY PLANNED FOR GEORGIA

Definite action looking to the formation of a state humane organization was taken at a called meeting of the Atlanta Humane society, held in the directors' room of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday afternoon.

A committee, consisting of D. W. Totten, secretary, and J. C. Curran, Mrs. J. H. Hill and Mrs. J. H. Hill, Mrs. Catherine Weatherbee, was appointed, with power to act in the matter of making application for a charter of the proposed state organization, and instructed to report back to the society at a meeting to be held within the next week.

The society voted to inaugurate a campaign for the collection of pledges made in the membership canvass of 1921, of which approximately $5,000 is past due and unpaid, according to a report made by the treasurer at the meeting yesterday.

It also definitely decided to establish two animal rescue homes, one on Peachtree road and the other in West End.

JULEAN ARNOLD ASKED TO PAY VISIT HERE

The arrival in San Francisco yesterday of Congressman Julean Arnold of Peking, China, is announced by B. C. Giesinger, district manager of the local office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

It is the desire of Manager Giesinger to bring to Atlanta from time to time a number of prominent figures connected with the machinery of American foreign trade, and it is believed that Mr. Arnold can be secured to visit Atlanta during his stay in this country. Request has been made of the department that Mr. Arnold be permitted to spend two days in Atlanta and it is probable that he will come about the middle of December. The request for his visit was joined in by the Atlanta chamber of commerce and the Foreign Trade club of this city.

There are 136 miles of towpaths beside the River Thames in England.

Atlanta Follies Help Entertain Visiting Bottlers

Production Is Given Under the Direction of Enrico Leide.

One of the most elaborate features of the week's entertainment provided for the American bottlers in session in Atlanta, was the production of the "A. B. C. B. Follies" before a crowd which overflowed Taft hall in the Auditorium Wednesday night. The production, sponsored by the bottlers' association, was produced and directed by Enrico Leide, production manager and director of the Howard theater. In all the special arrangements which were necessary to insure the success of the "Follies," and throughout the several acts, there was unmistakable evidence of the workings of a master hand. The cast, composed of well known Atlanta artists, was headed by Miss Nellie Sullivan, as the leading lady.

The curtain was drawn on Miss Sullivan in a singing and dancing act and in which she was supported by a chorus of eight girls. The dances were impersonations of dances of the past.

George McNulty, garbed in the conventional dress of an Arabian sheik and singing "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," was ably assisted in his impersonations by Miss Mary Annie McGinty. Miss McGinty was accorded a round of applause for perfect acting in the difficult role.

Miss Sullivan again appeared with her chorus of eight pretty girls in "The Peachtree Follies." The girls came onto the stage singing specially written verses to the tune of "Hot Lips and Sweet Smiles" in various bottles, typical of the A. B. C. B. convention. This act was the semi-final number and was one of the best of the program.

The grand finale brought forth the eight chorus girls dressed in very flimsy garments and representing the "fireflies." The chorus of the "Glow Worm" was used and the Howard chorus joined in the singing. All lights were turned out save the huge revolving lights which were suspended from the top of the hall and which were shaded to show the weird, whirling "fire-fly" effects.

New The INVISIBLE HUSBAND

By Maguerite Hurley

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.
Phyllis Gay, who has made a million in the movies.
Finkenberg, a disaffected director who has taken a liking to Deborah.
Deborah, a little sewing girl who delivers a gown from Madame Marie. He remarks: "You have mighty pretty, big, brown eyes, haven't you?" Deb fears this man, but is advised that in movies you must cater to those with "pull." It is also said that a girl who is married is less annoyed by men. . . . so Deb secures a wedding ring and presents herself at a Long Island studio as "Mrs. Deborah Demarest." An "invisible husband" causes complications, especially since the name Deb has chosen is that of Miss Gay's leading man.
Larry Demarest, who is also attracted by Deborah's warm eyes and quaint manner. He advises her against going in pictures, but she loses her heart and head.
The clutches of Finkenberg; there is a jealous side her that Finkenberg has been killed and that suspicion has rested on her.

INSTALLMENT NO. 40.

Evidence and a Motive.
"Are you sure of this, Larry?"
"He's dead!" Deborah gasped, clutching his arm and struggling through the underbrush.
"I found him. The rifle was on the floor. . . . Your handkerchief was over his face. Just as I was about to call for help some men from the camp sought shelter from the rain. . . . I told them no one was around—the house was deserted. But when they saw the body—"
Deborah grasped the suspicion.
"They thought you—?"
"Yes. They held me until the sheriff and neighbors were summoned. I had to go through a sort of a third degree. . . . But when I told them what I was after, that you were missing—Well, stories about Oliver's cabin, as they called it, were had enough to justify a deed of vengeance for any day. . . . They all think you—"
Larry fixed his eyes upon Deborah in sorrowful appeal. "Tell me the truth, Deborah. . . . No one could blame you, and it will be easy to be acquitted, if you don't contradict yourself."
"Larry!" Deborah's cry was of alarm, half mixed with relief—"Larry, you think I did it? Then it wasn't you?"
He stopped in the path and hugged her sobbing figure close to his heart. "Course, no—sweetheart. I thought all along—"
Deborah seemed to drop in a state of collapse, then desperately she seized Larry and demanded, "You believe me, don't you?"
He tried to calm her. "Of course, I believe you, dear. . . . but I am only warning you that it will be necessary to convince the world. The evidence—the motive—Why did you jump out of the window? We found your tracks in the morning, after searching the woods all night. I promised I'd bring you back. . . . Until the real murderer is found, all of Eagle Nest is going to think you shot Finkenberg."
Larry knit his brow in perplexity. . . . then he seized Deb and searched her eyes sternly. "Deborah, tell me—how could you go off in the woods alone that way—with a man like—"
"Larry," Deb beseeched, as she clung to his arm pitiously. "Oh Larry, you understand, don't you? I thought we'd meet the company. He told me there was a camping scene, and I'd get a part. . . . Then when we got up the river he wanted to go to Eagle Nest—to get something to eat—super. Didn't I tell you?"
"But why this house? Why not some inn?"
"His friend—Oliver, is a movie man. He said he wanted me to meet him."
"Deborah tried to explain, but the more she talked, the angrier Larry seemed to become.
"Rot! Absolute rot! He didn't have any intention of introducing you to anyone. . . . Oliver's in Chicago, and Finkenberg knew it."
"In Chicago. And he knew it!"
"We have wired for Oliver. He'll return for the inquest."
Inquest! Deborah grew cold in horror. She kept forgetting that this thing was true—Finkenberg was dead. Shot. "With her handkerchief over his eyes they had found him—and thought she—"
"Larry," she staggered, "Will they put me in jail?"
"We'll take care of that," he said grimly. "But this is serious business. Deborah—every word will count against you. You must try to remember exactly what you did—what you said. . . . Not that they'll touch you," he interpolated when he felt the spasm of fear go through her body. "Not that they'll touch you, but a terrible suspicion will be on you. . . . The public. . . . We've got to get the truth . . . and set it quick! before—"

"What shall I do? Oh, Larry, I'll do anything you say, but don't let them take me away—don't let them—"
"Sh! Sh! Don't go to pieces, darling! All you have to do is keep quiet—the less you say, the better." He advised. . . . They were near the camp now, and he dreaded the moment when they must meet the pursuers—the suspicious, insinuating glances of men who thought it rather sporting that a little girl should have the nerve to handle a rifle that way. They had said something like that to Larry—they were betting among themselves which one would find her first. And now she must return to him—to meet the inquisition.
"Just be careful, sweetheart, that's all—and you know I'll stand right by you. Tell the truth—you know nothing about it."
"You think they'll believe me? Surely they believe me!" Deb wept weakly. "They can ask the butler—he was there; he'll tell them."
"That's the mystery," Larry said slowly. "When the body was discovered, the house was dark—no servant was there!"
"Then it must have been—he, the servant, he did it!" Deborah decided with excitement. Larry gave her a strange look. Then he said rather darkly, "I'd better tell you everything from the beginning." They sat down in a clear place far her solemnly as he recounted—
"I got into the clearing during the storm; there was no light. I broke into the house between flashes of lightning. I had no more than gotten in the door and turned on the electric switch when the lights attracted these campers—also seeking refuge. They banged on the door, and asked for shelter. . . . I let them in. . . . They—then—there was the body!" Finkenberg.
Deborah shuddered. "It must have been the butler—he's gone you say?"
"Larry looked serious and unconvinced. Gently he protested, "No—not he! It was easy to believe that at first, Deborah, dear. All hands pointed that way while he was missing, but yesterday he returned, cool as a cucumber! He said he'd been sent to fetch some things from the village for Finkenberg; claimed he was tipped to remain for the night. He brought back some women's clothes."
"What for?" Deborah asked, shrinking against the answer.
"For you! He said he was told that you would remain at the lodge for some time. That you had lost your bag. One of the boxes contained a dinner frock—all pink chiffon. It was just your size, Deborah." (Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

MUNICIPAL COAL YARD URGED BY J. A. COUCH

Declares People of Atlanta Are Being Charged Too High a Price.

Declaring that Atlanta citizens are not getting just prices on coal Councilman J. A. Couch, of the fifth ward, announced Wednesday that he will introduce in council next Monday a resolution calling for establishment of a municipal coal yard.
He was busy at city hall during the day gathering data and getting estimates on the cost of the project. He said the people are demanding relief and stated that there is something wrong somewhere when consumers must pay at retail approximately $5 a ton above what the city purchasing department pays for coal at the mines.
Agitation for the city to enter the coal business has been reaching the ears of council for some time, and it was reported that a coal yard measure would be introduced at the last session of council.
At a hearing a few days ago before the finance committee Councilman Claude Ashley announced that he would support a resolution to establish the city in the coal business.
Atlanta retail dealers are charging for domestic lump coal $11, $11.50 a ton. The city has sold to its employees and a few outsiders coal at $7.50 and $8 a ton.

GOVERNMENT BOATS TO BE AUCTIONED

The surplus floating equipment at the Atlanta quartermaster intermediate depot, Camp Jessup, Ga., will be sold at public auction November 29, at 10 o'clock in the morning. The sale will be under the supervision of Captain M. M. Goodwin, surplus property control manager, of the quartermaster corps.
Open power launches, yawls, barges, dories and steamers up to 250 gross tonnage located at various points on the South Atlantic seaboard are included in the items listed for sale.

SUDAN IS IMPROVING, SAY GRADY DOCTORS

The condition of Charles W. Sudan, of 10 1-2 Walton street, who is alleged to have attempted suicide by drinking lyeol Tuesday night, was improved Wednesday night, according to physicians at the Grady hospital, who stated Sudan had good chances for recovery.
Sudan is said to have become despondent over domestic troubles. It is claimed that his wife had told him that she did not love him and that she was going to leave him. She was in his room when he took the poison, it is said.

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures", over-effective, weakening and gripping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

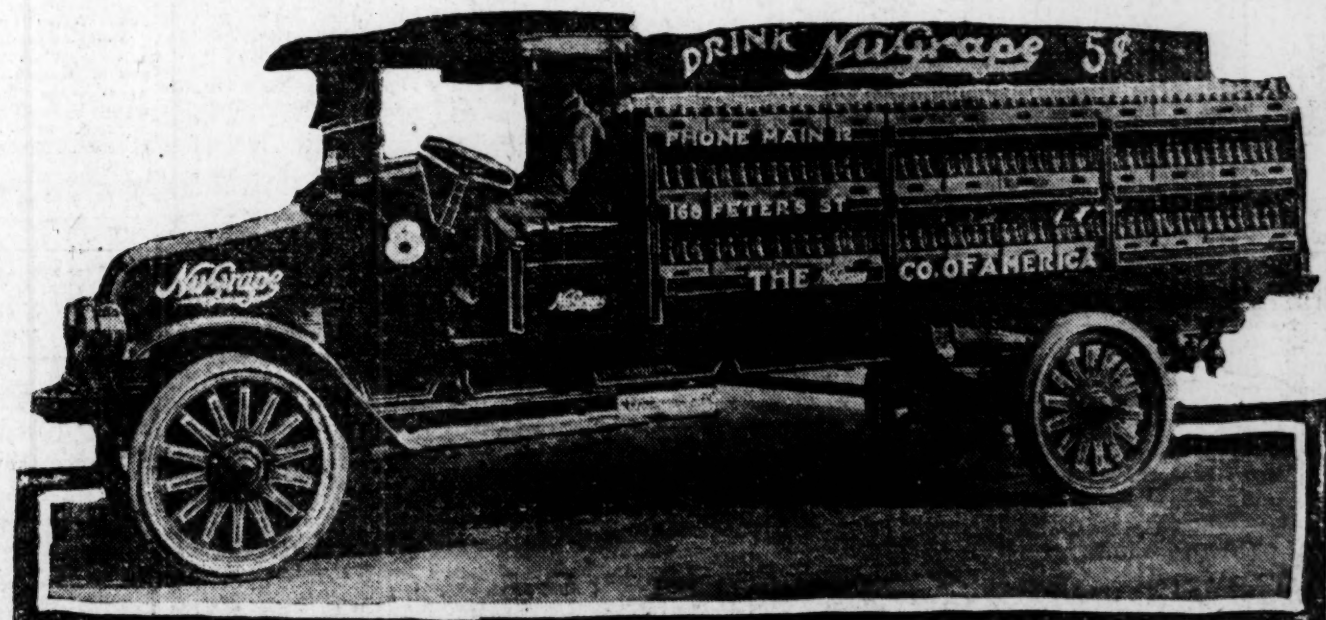

compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.
Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. Enas S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant--children like it. You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thinning and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads. That is to use the "Blackheads" powder. To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store--sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth--rub over the blackheads with the cloth and the powder. The powder will absorb the oil and dirt from the pores of the skin, and the blackheads will disappear. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. The powder is a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calomel powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they will wash out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. (adv.)

BEAUTY CHATS

INEXPENSIVE SOAPS.
Some people have an idea that the more expensive a soap is the better it is. This isn't the least bit true and is rather distressing because so many girls spend more than they can possibly afford on costly soaps for the praiseworthy purpose of preserving their pretty complexions.

It is perfectly true that the costly soaps are good in quality and mild, but there are ever so many inexpensive soaps that are every bit as beneficial to the skin. A good soap gives a good lather, except when the water is particularly hard, in which case of course a special variety adapted to hard water must be used. A soap with a delicate perfume is of course delightful to use, but it is not a bit more cleansing than one with its own clean odor. A soap that comes from France may tempt you to spend a great deal on it, but remember you are paying for packing and shipping and all the other little expenses attached to an imported article. If you can afford it, all right, if not, there are plenty of home-made soaps that are as good.

By all this I do not mean to recommend cheap soaps. You must not buy any variety that contains too much caustic or soda, for this will dry and harm the skin. You must never use strong soaps thought they do cleanse more quickly, simply because they harm the delicate tissues of the skin.

Personally, I recommend curd soap as a good cheap soap for bathing and shampooing. Castile is better and only slightly more expensive. Unscented oatmeal bleaches the skin, keeping it soft and white. "Bar soap" is inexpensive and delightful as a shampoo. None of these cost very much.

Olive--Soaps that are made for laundry purposes are too severe to use on the face; even the hands that are constantly immersed in soapy water become inflamed and only good treatments with creams will counteract this abuse. A fine soap costs so little that you should not resort to such soaps on the face as have caustic qualities.

Josephine--Sage and sulphur is the most harmless stain for brown hair. If you are just beginning to turn try treatment with a tonic and massage.

Blue Eyes--The henna shampoo will give your hair the "bright spots" you mention. It is quite harmless and will not change the actual color of the hair. Your weight should be 110 pounds.

GEORGIA BODY FIXES DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM

Dairy Farming, Poultry Raising and Planting of Food-stuff Urged at Meeting.

Waycross, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Ware county members of the Georgia association held yesterday afternoon in the Municipal building, a definite program of diversified farming for the average one-horse farm was approved. The program will be recommended to the farmers of Ware county, and will be thoroughly tested before undertaken on a large scale.

The program, as adopted by the association members, calls for the placing of from three to six milk cows, pure bred recommended, on each farm; two or three good sows, twenty to forty brood hens, ten acres in corn, velvet beans and North Carolina peanuts; five acres in oats, followed with peas or other hay crops; four acres in millet or other feed crop; five acres in Spanish peanuts, or watermelons, or divided with tobacco; three acres in sweet potatoes and cane; five in cotton or truck, followed early with grain; twelve acres in permanent crop, grass, alfalfa and lespedeza.

This program has as its dominant feature diversification of the ideas multiplying the chances of success, and insuring against the failure of any one crop. The central item of the program is the cow, hog and chicken.

Dr. R. J. Heyde, county agent, guaranteed to market all the hogs any time there is as many as a carload for sale. While M. M. Moore, of the Georgia Hide and Fur company, guaranteed to market all the chickens and eggs.

"RELAY" COLLISION SMASHES LAMP POST

A lamp post was "the innocent bystander" Wednesday night when an outboard street car at Peachtree and Porter Place struck an automobile driven by W. D. Batchelor, 253 Highland avenue, causing the automobile to collide violently with a car parked along the curb, which in its turn struck the lamp post with a resounding crash. The stationary machine was owned by R. C. Phillips, 54 N. Broad street.

DRINKS ARE PURE AND WHOLESOME, DAVIES DECLARES

Leaders among the 3,000 members of the bottlers' association which is now in convention here are centering their efforts on educating the public to recognize the truth of two truths vital to the industry: first, that carbonated drinks are pure, and second, that they are wholesome. This is the statement of C. H. Davies, president of the Citrus Products company, of Chicago, a prominent member of the Illinois delegation and a bottling chief who has made a thorough study of the old beliefs that bottled drinks are impure and injurious.

C. H. DAVIES.

"To counteract that aged belief is the main point we are driving at," he said Wednesday, and then he quoted prominent medical authorities to show that the body is actually benefited by the consumption of the right kind of soft drink. "It may be that in past times soft drinks were prepared in haphazard fashion, but with modern scientific devices at command, bottlers are now forced to put an absolutely pure, wholesome product on the market or retire," he added.

"One of the most prominent of the products of soft drinks is invert sugar, which is highly valued as a food and which needs no idgestion. The liquid properties of the drink are, of course, beneficial, and the absence of impurities in good brands of beverages makes them not only pleasant to the taste but an actual benefit to the body.

"When people get the right idea about soft drinks, more and more of them will be consumed and they will become common household products," Mr. Davies' company manufactures Orange Krist and Lemonella, which are true fruit flavors.

Home Electrical Wedding Blocked By Brides-to-Be

But Mock Ceremony Is Performed to Prevent Disappointing Crowds.

Stock on the matrimonial market was quoted Wednesday in Atlanta at about thirteen cents on the hundred with the girls as "bears" on the market. Thirteen prospective bridegrooms wished to marry in the Atlanta Home Electrical, 55 South Prado, on Wednesday evening. All had filed applications and prepared for the ceremony, and then thirteen brides refused to play their part in the wedding.

But a wedding had been announced and arranged for at the Atlanta Electrical association officials refused to disappoint the assembled crowds. So pretty and petite Miss Irene Thomas, a prominent society girl, came to the rescue and agreed to act as "bride." Glen Fields and James Johnson challenged each other to a duel to decide who would be the "groom," but after the intervention of friends they agreed to match pennies for the honor. Mr. Johnson won and Mr. Fields played second role as "best man."

Bert MacIntyre, otherwise a business man, because "Rev." Bert MacIntyre for the occasion and functioned as "parson," not in an exactly orthodox manner to be sure, but nevertheless entirely satisfactory for the ceremony. Miss Mildred Fraser was drafted for maid of honor, and R. H. Witherspoon gave the bride away by declaring that she was eligible to marry in the home electrical because she could not even brew coffee on an electric percolator.

"Rev." MacIntyre overruled his objections, however, with the assistance of Mr. Johnson. The Misses Beulah Perkins, Cordy Rice, Anne Kewenich and Nell Clayton acted as "bridesmaids," and the Misses Dorothy Rhorer and Josephine Clayton were "flower girls." The "wedding" began at 8:30 o'clock with a crowd of 1,200 persons. By unanimous vote license was deemed unnecessary, and the "Rev." MacIntyre "tied the knot" by fastening the hands of the "bride" and "groom" together with a rope. "Mr." and "Mrs." Johnson will be "at home" to their friends throughout the week demonstrating electrical apparatus to visitors in the home electrical.

Flash of Flame From Street Car Thrills Crowd

A Short-Circuited Controller Causes Near Panic on Downtown Street.

A flash of blue flame from a short-circuited controller on a Piedmont car caused a near stampede for the car exits by more than a score of passengers that followed, and the wild dash of the fire companies through crowded traffic furnished a genuine thrill for theater crowds late Wednesday night.

What might have been a jam of serious proportions was averted by the cool action on the part of Conductor J. S. Dismuke and Motorman W. M. Estes who had charge of the car.

When the flames leaped from the controller box as the car was passing the Piedmont hotel, Estes quickly opened the front door, and slammed it after him to prevent a pile up of passengers on the pavement. Dismuke, realizing the passengers were in no immediate danger, shouted for order at the same time blocking the way to the rear exit.

A few seconds after the controller burned out and the short-circuit had caused smoke to issue from the car, a fire engine and two fire trucks arrived on red hot wheels. W. M. Hollenworth, an employee of the traction company, who was off duty and standing nearby, pulled the trolley wire off the car, eliminating further danger of fire and injury to the passengers.

When the fire companies arrived no flames were in evidence but a cloud of smoke issued from the underpurlion and the roof of the street car. The passengers were unharmed in an orderly manner and taken in charge by company officials. No one was injured.

"This New Puzzle Game Sure Beats the Movies!"

That's what many a Constitution reader is saying these days. In ninety-nine homes out of a hundred the old question used to be "What shall we do this evening?" The answers were a multitude of worn-out suggestions for "going somewhere." Constitution readers, however, either in the city or country, have no difficulty in deciding what to do. They can stay right at home and have one of the most enjoyable times imaginable. The key to this happiness is right ON THIS PAGE—The Constitution's new "P" Word Picture Game. It is fascinating, educational and absorbing. Why not join in—and spend a few hours of keen pleasure? You can win a well worth-while prize.

Here's the idea: How many objects can you find in the above picture whose names start with the letter "P"—like "Pincers," "Parasol," "Pie," etc.? Maybe it looks difficult. But wait till you hunt, started! Those tantalizing "P" words just JUMP right off the picture at you! The more you hunt, the keener your interest grows. If you haven't started your list yet,—GET BUSY! We are going to give fifteen splendid cash prizes for the fifteen best and nearest correct lists. Why can't YOU win $1,500 or $1,000 CASH?

YOU CAN WIN $1,500

Study the "P" Word Picture closely, and then make up your list. When you are pretty sure you have found all the objects beginning with "P," send your list in. It costs nothing to try. If the judges find your list FIRST PRIZE winner you will be awarded $35.00. You can win $35.00 without sending a subscription. But if you want to win $1,500.00, $1,000.00, or one of the large prizes, read the following:

If you send one six-months' subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution at $5.00 and win FIRST PRIZE you will receive $500 instead of only $35.00. (See second column in prize list).

Your BIG OPPORTUNITY is made possible by sending two six-months' subscriptions at $5.00 each, or one yearly subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution at $9.50. Then, if you win FIRST PRIZE, you will receive $1,500.00. (See last column in prize list).

Either new, renewal or future subscriptions will be accepted. Your own or a friend's or neighbor's order will count.

Study These Simple Rules:

1. Anyone may compete, except our employees or their relatives. Prize winners in other similar word contests are also ineligible.
2. Use only one side of the paper in writing your answers. You must number each page and each word submitted consecutively—1, 2, 3, etc. Write your full name and address in the upper right hand corner of each page. All answers must be mailed by December 2, 1922, to The Atlanta Constitution. A 5 per cent additional prize will be awarded for promptness as specified in the prize list.
3. The answer having the largest number of words which correctly name objects shown in the picture wins first prize, etc.
4. In the event of ties, the full amount of the prize will be awarded each tying contestant.
5. The winning list will be made up from applicable words in all answers submitted and not from any predetermined or master list. One credit will be allowed for each correct word in your answer, and one credit will be deducted for each incorrect word or omission.
6. Three independent judges will judge the answers and award the prizes. Webster's New International Dictionary will be used by the judges as authority for all words. It is understood and agreed that participants entering this game will accept the judges' decision as final and conclusive.
7. Do not use obsolete, compound or hyphenated words, or any word made up of two or more complete English words.
8. Words of the same spelling can be used only once. Where the singular is used the plural must not be used, and vice versa. Each object may be named only once; however, you may name any visible part of an object.
9. Only one answer will be accepted from a family or from a group of persons who have worked on the picture together.
10. Every answer will receive the same consideration, regardless whether or not a subscription has been sent in. Neatness, style or hand-writing will have no bearing on judging the winners.
11. Announcement of the prize winners and the winning list of words, together with the correct list determined by the Judges, will be made in the columns of The Constitution just as soon after the close of the game as possible.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

Favorable European News Expected to Strengthen

BY R. L. BARNUM
Constitution's Financial Correspondent.

New York, November 15.—Because the market, having been sick for ten days or more, kept getting sicker Monday and Tuesday, most people expected a wide open break this morning. But instead, with the exception of Consolidated Gas, which opened down 3 points and then declined 2 more, prices were higher. This was the first day since the decline began when there was no sinking spell, and with European news better, it looks like a substantial rally might start tomorrow.

Operations of the iron and steel mills are now at a new high for the year. The Iron Age stated today, with no new tendencies developing either in demand or prices. It was added that some buyers are looking for price concessions, but not getting them, despite the fact that in several lines independent steel manufacturers are booked less than two months ahead.

An extra 10 per cent dividend was declared today by the U. S. Gypsum company. This was a day of dividend increases and stock dividends. Stock market wise, however, the announcements now being made have already been discounted.

Following the flood of stock dividends after the supreme court handed down its decision that such dividends were not taxable, there was the same selling that now exists on the part of the average stock market trader that insiders were trying to unload. The facts are, however, that in many cases the so-called big insiders have never taken their war profits because of the high taxes that would have to have been paid to the government. That, however, has been fixed, and now there is a chance to get out on one's own. Buying the public has been selling what long stocks it has been carrying.

Schulte Dividend Announced.
Schulte retail stores announced a dividend of $5 on the common stock, payable in 8 per cent preferred stock. The president of the company said that next year not less than 5 per cent would be paid on the common.

Some time ago it was stated in this column that Mays' department stores, Endicott Johnson, Manhattan Shirt and Studebaker, all had the same New York bankers, and that all, with the exception of the last named, were scheduled to declare stock dividends and that Studebaker would in January declare an extra cash dividend. Mays' Department Stores has already declared a stock dividend, and today Manhattan Shirt announced the announcement.

annual cash dividend rate had been increased from $2 to $3, that a quarterly stock dividend of 2 1/2 per cent had been declared together with a stock dividend of 17 1/2 per cent. The banker who predicted the stock dividends predicted today that Stude-

Oil Directors to Meet.

Consolidated Gas is going to raise

$40,000,000 new capital instead of $20,000,000 as rumored in Wall street yesterday. The company proposes first to change its 1,250,000 shares of outstanding stock having a par value of $100 a share into 2,500,000 shares with a par value of $50; then to issue 500,000 additional shares of the common stock, offering it to shareholders at $50 a share.

Next the company proposes to create 300,000 shares of new 6 per cent preferred stock which will be offered to employees and customers. The $40,000,000 of new money will be used to pay off floating debts, including the $20,000,000 notes maturing in December. Consolidated Gas is held by many rich men here in the east and the financing just announced has been the subject of much Wall

There was a time when it never occurred to anyone to ask what the par value of a stock was because practically all shares listed on the exchange had a par value of $100. Within the next few months, however, one company after another has reduced the par value of its shares, some to $50, many to $25, some to nothing. In each case the object of the change was to get the open market price down.

South, in which she portrays a most difficult role.

Among the vaudeville acts is the offering of Doris Hardy, assisted by Lila O'Neal, in the one-act comedy, "Speaking of Men." This is the only two-woman play in vaudeville to date and finds Hardy excellently cast in her first appearance after an absence of a year in pictures, having starred with Marion Davies in "The Young Rajah," and Harry Hays in the picture, "Men and Women."

Other acts are Jimmy (Sax) Duffy in songs and saxophone specialties, Twyman and Vincent in a comedy sketch with songs, and King and Anita Sauls in drawing and painting specialties.

Rodolph Valentino.

(At the Howard.)

Rodolph Valentino, first as a college hero at Harvard, then as a gorgeous young prince of India, is the latest promise for screen fans in Valentino's latest Paramount picture, "The Young Rajah," playing all week at the Howard theatre.

The story was adapted by June Mathis from John Ames Mitchell's popular novel, "Amos Judd," and the play of the same name by Althea Luce. According to the story, Valentino is a Hindu prince who, to save his life and is brought to America and placed under the care of a New England family.

"The Young Rajah," is said to abound in magnificent settings and lavish costumes.

"The Fast Mail."

(At the Metropolitan.)

With Charles Jones, another star of the Western, "The Fast Mail," is the story of a man who, in the role of Walter West, "The Fast Mail," a melodrama that still lives in the memory of theatergoers after twenty years, is at the Metropolitan theatre.

Jones and "The Fast Mail" make a strong combination, for he is particularly strong in action and the drama, and she is a fine comedienne. MINERS ACCEPTED AS JURORS

Membership in Miners' Union Does Not Disqualify for Jury Service, Judge Rules.

Marion, Ill., November 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Membership in the miners' union is not sufficient cause to disqualify any person from jury service, even though he may be contributing to the defense, in the trial of five men charged with murder in connection with the Herrin mine killings, Judge D. T. Hartwell, of Williamson county circuit court, ruled today.

The ruling followed the acceptance by the state of a coal miner as a juror and the acceptance of the first panel of four jurors by both the defense and state. The other three members accepted by both sides are farmers, and all have announced themselves in favor of death penalty where the evidence was warranted.

Judge Hartwell said that any person who was found to have an actual interest in the case should be removed. His ruling followed the raising of the question through the effort of Delos Duty, state's attorney, to excuse a miner, Amos Anderson, of Marion, Ark., who was one of the first panel of four jurors by both the defense and state.
